Sunday 16 in Ordinary Time - Year B

THE GIFT OF BREAD

There are at least three kinds of hunger. There is a hunger for bread, for the food and drink that satisfy physical hunger and nourish physical health. There is emotional hunger, a hunger for acceptance and welcome, and affection from others. And there is spiritual hunger. This, for Christians, is a craving for Christ and his company. As a famous song puts it, in the words of St Richard of Chichester, this hunger is a longing to "see him more clearly, love him more dearly, and follow him more nearly, day by day."

Mother Teresa of Calcutta has spoken well of these three kinds of hunger:

Your poverty is greater than ours....the spiritual poverty of the West is much greater than the physical poverty of the East. In the West there are millions of people who suffer loneliness and emptiness, who feel unloved and unwanted. They are not the hungry in the physical sense; what is missing is a relationship with God and each other.

In our Gospel today, we meet people who are experiencing the three kinds of hunger. Their greatest hunger is for the company of Jesus, for the enlightenment and truth of the words he speaks, and for the warmth and comfort of his understanding, kindness and compassion. They are also feeling the pangs of physical hunger and hoping he can relieve those too.

Looking for a little rest and recreation Jesus sails with his friends for the eastern shore of the lake. But seeing where the boat is heading, the crowds hurry along the shore and are already waiting for them at the other side. You can imagine what you and I might have thought and even said about this. Jesus too might easily have felt annoyed and resentful. He might easily have moaned and groaned: "Why won't they leave us alone for a while? Why won't they let us have a bit of time to ourselves? Why won't they stay away? Why won't they?"

But Jesus thinks no such thoughts. He thinks only of them, of their need for him, and for the love and assistance he can provide as their Good Shepherd. Sensing their longing to be with him and seeing so many sick and trouble persons among them, his heart overflows with compassion. And so, he goes from one group to another—talking to them, listening to them, comforting them and healing their physically and mentally ill ones. In this way the longing they have to be with him, and their need for acceptance, welcome, affection, are completely satisfied.

All this has much to say to us as the disciples of Jesus in the world today. We must face first of all, the physical hunger of millions of our fellow human beings. Can we any longer feel easy about so much conspicuous consumption and so much waste in our Western world when so many are deprived of the basic necessities of life and are actually starving? What will Jesus say to us on Judgement Day? Will it be: "I was hungry, and you gave me food? I was thirsty, and you gave me drink?(Mt 25: 35-36). Or will it be: "I was hungry and you never gave me any food, I was thirsty and you never gave me anything to drink".

In the second place, there are all around us so many deprived and lonely people who are craving for even a little bit of affirmation and acceptance. The widespread problems of so many runaway and homeless children, of drug addiction, of domestic violence, of suicide, are but symptoms of unsatisfied longings to be loved and to love. Can you and I be a little more sensitive, a little more responsive, a little more active and caring towards so many lost and lonely people? And will we let Jesus Christ say to us: "I was a stranger and you made me welcome, lacking clothes and you clothed me, sick and you visited me, in prison and you came to see me.?"

Jesus has clearly identified himself with people in physical, emotional and spiritual need To meet them is to meet him. "In truth I tell you", he says, " in so far as you did this to one of the least of these brothers and sisters of mine, you did it to me" (Mt 25: 40-41) and "in so far as you neglected to to this to one of the least of these, you neglected to do it to me" (Mt 25:45).

It is the same Jesus whom we meet today in our celebration of the Eucharist, as the Jesus who took pity on the crowd of hungry people on the shore of the lake. He will shortly be nourishing our friendship with him in the signs of bread and wine, in order to empower us to become more like him. And at the end of Mass he will be sending us back into the world as a source of nourishment to others, be reaching out to them with our words and actions of acceptance and welcome, affirmation and affection.

Fed then, by our holy communion with him, may we do more than ever before to satisfy the physical, emotional and spiritual hungers of all those needy persons out there, whom God has put on our paths to nourish them with practical signs of God's own compassionate and caring love!

Everything went very smoothly, sun shone, filmmakers very happy, Fr Jim CP scored an invitation to "Lunch with the Stars" - and we didn't even know beforehand that Fr Gary's godson was one of the "extras"!
